

Perfectly Positioned!

Jayvane Interiors new project is all about the right pieces in the right places

This Project is the perfect urban escape that blends contemporary simplicity and hints of Moroccan aesthetics.

When you have a relatively-sized space, attention to detail and careful curation of elements is vital as objects are more noticeable. A clever approach in creating visual interest even for a modest area is through an asymmetrical positioning of your elements. On the left side view are black vertical flutings extending from floor to ceiling, which perfectly juxtaposes its white backdrop and the horizontal direction of your TV console and coffee tables.

Adding to the visuals are landscaped colors and textures, starting with neutrals and an accent brass color. The metallic element beautifully blends well with your black colors, while the gray shades anchor the space perfectly.

The abstract four-part wall art has a similar shade with your gold and brass elements creating a cohesive output and becomes an effective focal point in the room.

Continuing the asymmetrical approach, the space has no similar-looking furniture. This creates zoning of areas and makes each piece of furniture and décor stand out on its own.

To create an illusion of space, the design uses vertical flutings and the grommet pleatings that extend through the ceiling. In addition, a tray ceiling is designed to make the room ceiling look higher while defining the functional space. Low furniture is also used to free up the upper negative space atop and allowing the eyes to be drawn to the vertical elements.
